Bias-cut Pattern Making with Lutterloh

Bias-cut garments are known for their soft, flowing allure. As beautiful as bias is to look at, its beauty is matched by its reputation for being so difficult to sew. True, a bias garment is not for a beginner sewer, but for someone with a few garments under the belt (needle?), working with bias can be a rewarding experience.

Bias-cut garments are surprisingly easy to cut and make, provided certain basic rules are followed in both the cut and construction. In this Workshop, Sonja will show you an easy step-by-step way of drafting your own blocks, the Lutterloh way. From the blocks, we will create our bias patterns.

Lian Lim from New South Wales says:

" I would like to thank you both for a wonderful weekend of learning the Lutterloh pattern making - I've learnt something the easy way and very interesting. The e-book is so helpful as a reference after the class and I'll certainly be sewing something from what's learnt."
